| Volltext                      | Forest management associations (FBG) are associations of landowners under private law. Their main purpose is to compensate for the disadvantages of small area size in the management and various structural deficiencies in the management of their forest areas.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
