Volltext	If you run a forest seed or forest plant business and wish to place forest reproductive material on the market, you must register it with the State Office for Forest Reproductive Material. Ensuring the identity of forest reproductive material is of fundamental importance for the forestry industry. For this reason, strict requirements are imposed on companies when producing and marketing forest reproductive material in accordance with the Forest Reproductive Material Act (FoVG). The state authorities are responsible for monitoring compliance with these regulations. Accordingly, you must register your company operating in this area. If the requirements are met, your business will be approved. It will then receive a farm number. This is reported to the Federal Office for Agriculture and Food (BLE) and kept in a nationwide register. You must state the farm number on all delivery documents accompanying the propagation material.

You can submit your notification in writing or electronically.

Once you have submitted the application and all documents are complete, the competent authority will check whether all requirements for notification in accordance with Section 17 (1) FoVG have been met.

If the requirements are met according to the documents, the company will be inspected during an on-site visit and the person responsible will be interviewed.

If this does not give rise to any obstacles, you will then receive your company number in accordance with the FoVG and instructions on the management of the
