Modul

Sachverhalt

If you wish to return to Germany, but the travel document for return is not recognized for the exit or transit of foreign countries or the validity period, which is limited to one month, is not sufficient, you can be issued with a temporary passport. This is also possible if you wish to continue your journey and not return directly to Germany. If even a temporary passport is not recognized, a new passport can be issued, if necessary in an express procedure.

If you have copies of your passport and possibly also your identity card with you on your trip, this will make it easier to establish your identity and issue a new passport or passport replacement if your passport is lost or stolen.

Verfahrensablauf

If you have lost your passport while traveling abroad or if it has been stolen, proceed as follows:

Modul
Sachverhalt

- Report the loss to the local police authority.
- Go to the German diplomatic mission abroad, including the German embassy, a German consulate general or a German consulate in the country you are traveling to. Honorary consuls if necessary.
- Once you have submitted all the necessary documents, a replacement passport valid for your return or entry into Germany can be issued directly on site if required. If you apply for a new passport, the issuing process will take longer.
- If there is no German diplomatic mission in your destination country, the diplomatic missions of other member states of the European Union (EU) can also issue replacement travel documents. You can only travel back to the EU with such a replacement travel document issued by the diplomatic mission or consular post of another EU member state. A replacement travel document issued by another EU member state is only valid for a few days.

Bearbeitungsdauer

If you would like to have a travel document issued as a passport replacement, this usually takes a few hours. If you would like to have a temporary passport issued, this may take several days. If you wish to have a new passport issued, this will take at least 4 weeks. If the necessary consultation with the citizens' office at your German place of residence is delayed, the processing time may be longer. If you require an exit visa, the processing time may be delayed.
