Teaser	If you are an intermediary or user of a cross-border tax arrangement, you must report this to the Federal Central Tax Office (BZSt) promptly under certain conditions.
Volltext	Since 1 July 2020, as an intermediary or user of a cross-border tax arrangement, you have been obliged to report cross-border tax arrangements within the European Union (EU) that you have marketed, designed, organized, made available for use or operated or managed yourself as soon as these indicate a potential risk of tax avoidance based on legally defined indicators. The primary reporting obligation applies to the intermediary. An intermediary is anyone who markets a cross-border tax arrangement <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • markets • designs it for third parties • organizes • makes it available for use or • manages the implementation by third parties. Intermediaries can be, for example <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • tax consultants or - lawyers.

Users are only affected by the notification obligation if they use an intermediary who is not subject to the notification obligation in the EU or if they have designed a cross-border tax structure themselves as an "in-house designer".

If the notification obligation is incumbent on an intermediary who is subject to a statutory duty of confidentiality, the user himself is partly obliged to notify the cross-border tax arrangement if he does not release the intermediary from the statutory duty of confidentiality (with regard to his personal/user-related data).

You can only submit the notification of cross-border tax arrangements to the BZSt electronically and in accordance with the officially prescribed data set via the officially designated interface.

The notified cross-border tax arrangements are exchanged between the affected member states of the European Union.

Verfahrensablauf	You must transmit the notification of cross-border tax arrangements to the Federal Central Tax Office (BZSt) electronically via the officially designated interface in accordance with the officially prescribed data set. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The following 3 reporting channels are available to you for transmitting the data: Individual data transmission via the BZSt online portal (BOP) XML web upload in the BOP Electronic mass data interface (ELMA) • To transmit data via the BOP, you need an active BZSt number or a valid Elster certificate. • To transmit data via ELMA or via the XML web upload in the BOP, you must first register with the responsible "Automatic Exchange of Tax Structures (DAC 6)" department at the BZSt and obtain authorization to use the ELMA interface. • Registration is only required for the sender of the data, i.e. the reporting entity that transmits the data to the BZSt (third-party service provider or the reporting party itself). It must be completed once before the first data transmission. • If you do not have a valid BZSt number, you must first apply for one from the responsible "Automatic exchange of tax arrangements (DAC 6)" department at the BZSt. This is done as part of the registration for the procedure. Please use the form "Registration of the data sender for the electronic transmission of data" on the BZSt website. • When using the BOP for the first time, a portal registration must be carried out. This step is not necessary if a reporting party already has an active BZSt number and a valid login (BOP certificate). • You will receive technical feedback on the status and result of processing for each message. • In addition, if the notification is successfully accepted, you will be informed of the registration number and the disclosure number of the notified cross-border tax arrangement with the processing log. The registration number must be forwarded by the first notifier to the other known notifiers in order to enable the allocation of any further deliveries that may be required. • If data has been rejected by the BZSt, the errors must
