Teaser	If your employees need special support during training or at work due to a disability, you as an employer can apply for work assistance.
Volltext	Individual employment assistance supports people with disabilities in training or employment. The job center will coordinate the support with you as the employer for your company. Examples of work aids are access ramps, sanitary facilities or conversions in the company. The costs of work aids also include the necessary ancillary costs, for example planning costs, fees and expert costs. Once a subsidy has been granted, your company becomes the owner of the work aid. Depending on your decision, the Jobcenter can cover all or part of the costs of the work aid for you. Subsidies for work aids for people with disabilities are a matter of discretion; you do not have a legal claim to them.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	• Application form • Cost estimate • Employment or training contract of the person with disabilities • Invoice (to be submitted after the application has been submitted)

Voraussetzungen	Under the following conditions, you as an employer can receive a subsidy from the Jobcenter for work aids in the company: • The work aid is necessary for the permanent participation of the person with disabilities in working life. • You do not have to bear the costs of the work aid yourself. As an employer, you are generally responsible for ensuring that the workplace is suitable for people with disabilities and people with equivalent disabilities. • It would be unreasonable or disproportionately expensive for you to implement the work aid. • The work aid is also required for a disabled-friendly workplace or training place. • The person for whom the job aid is intended has a disability or is at risk of becoming disabled. • The employment agency is the responsible rehabilitation provider for the person with a (potential) disability. This usually applies to people before initial vocational training and if no other rehabilitation provider (e.g. employers' liability insurance association or German pension insurance) is responsible.
Kosten	None

If you have any questions when completing the applications, please get in touch with your contact person. • Submit the documents with the required evidence to the Jobcenter. • The job center will check whether the person with disabilities can become the owner of the job aid so that they can take the job aid with them to their next job/employer. In this case, the funding for the job aid would go to the person with disabilities and be processed with them. • The Jobcenter checks the necessary scope of the work aids.
