Teaser	If you import goods into the customs territory of the European Union and/or handle them there, you can apply for a comprehensive guarantee under certain conditions. The amount may be reduced or waived as appropriate.
Volltext	In certain cases, you must provide security at the request of the customs authorities. The security is required, for example, if you temporarily store goods imported into the customs territory • temporarily stored • use or • dispatched. The guarantee usually covers the amount of import or export duty and the other charges relating to the import and export of the goods. You must provide the security if you are or may become a debtor under the Act. If you frequently import goods and handle them as described above, you can, under certain conditions, apply to the customs authorities to provide an overall security for several operations instead of for each operation individually. If you provide or apply for the comprehensive guarantee, the customs authorities may, under certain conditions, request that the amount of the comprehensive guarantee be reduced or waived altogether.
