the KSK.

In your letter, you should note the following points:

- You explain which finding or findings you want and give reasons for this request. For example, write,
 - why you are not subject to the artists' social security contribution or
 - why you consider the recalculation of the artists' social security contribution to be incorrect.
- You can submit the reasons and, if necessary, further documents later at any time.

If your information or previously submitted documents are not sufficient for a decision on your objection, the KSK will contact you.

In order for your appeal to be successful, you should adhere to the deadlines set by the KSK. Extensions of the deadline are possible on request.

If a decision on your appeal has not yet been taken, you can withdraw it at any time.

You will receive written notification of the decision on your appeal.

- If the KSK has wrongly or incorrectly determined your obligation to pay artists' social security contributions, it will cancel the old decision and you will receive a new decision.
- If the KSK considers your objections to be unjustified, the KSK's objections committee will decide on your objection.
 - If the appeals committee decides in your favour, you will also receive a written decision.
 - If the appeals committee confirms the KSK's decision, you will receive a written notice of appeal explaining the reasons.
