Teaser	If you work as a relative in an agricultural company, you can be exempted from compulsory insurance by the Agricultural Pension Fund under certain conditions.
Volltext	If you wish to be exempted from compulsory insurance with the Landwirtschaftliche Alterskasse, you must submit an application. Insured persons of the Landwirtschaftliche Alterskasse are eligible to apply, i.e. also so-called collaborating family members. Collaborating family members are • are related to or married to the farmer, and • work full-time in the farmer's agricultural enterprise. They must have a reason to be exempt. Possible exemption reasons include: • You regularly earn more than twelve times the mini-job limit per year outside of farming. • You are compulsorily insured in the statutory pension insurance, for example because you are raising children.

The exemption from compulsory insurance ends as soon as its requirements are no longer met. If the conditions for exemption cease to apply or change, you must report this immediately.
