Teaser	As a manufacturer or importer of tattooing products including certain comparable substances and preparations, you must notify the Federal Office of Consumer Protection and Food Safety (BVL) of the formulations.
Volltext	Tattooing products are not cosmetic products, but substances or mixtures that are introduced into or under the human skin, remain there and are intended to influence the appearance. These are for example: • Tattoo inks • Permanent makeup • Agents with which tattoo inks are mixed before use, such as thinners • Agents for the removal of tattooing agents. You want to market such agents in Germany? Then you must submit the formulation to the Federal Office of Consumer Protection and Food Safety before you market these agents in Germany. The notification requirement does not apply to devices such as needles or lasers. The Federal Office of Consumer Protection and Food Safety will forward the formulation and your data to the poison information centers. Your data and prescriptions will be treated confidentially and transmitted in encrypted form. Based on your information, the poison information centers advise tattooed people or the treating medical staff or other professionals in case of health problems.
