Teaser	If you have a foreign radio operator's certificate, you can have it recognized in Germany under certain conditions. To do this, you must submit an application to the Federal Network Agency.
Volltext	In Germany, you generally require an aeronautical radio certificate from the Federal Network Agency to operate aeronautical radio services on the ground and in the air. For your foreign aeronautical radio certificate to be recognized, you must have obtained it under examination conditions that are at least equivalent to those in Germany. Equivalence is generally recognized by the Federal Network Agency if you have obtained the aeronautical radio certificate within the European Union (EU). Otherwise, equivalence will be checked. If the Federal Network Agency does not consider parts of your foreign aeronautical radio certificate to be equivalent, you can take an additional examination and then obtain recognition of your aeronautical radio certificate. If your foreign aeronautical radio certificate is written in a language other than German or English, you must first have it translated into one of these 2 languages for
