exercise special professional qualifications had to be acquired, e.g. doctors, architects, pharmacists. You can find out whether your profession is regulated in Germany, which laws regulate it and where you have to contact to check your qualifications in the information portal "Recognition in Germany" (see "Further information").

Qualification measures include adaptation and compensatory measures in theoretical and practical form (internships in the company, theoretical courses, mixed forms), preparatory courses for examinations and language courses.

In addition to the implementation of a qualification measure, they may pursue employment without limitation in time if the intended activity during the recognition procedure is related to the professional knowledge required in the subsequent employment. Such a connection exists, for example, if you want to have your foreign medical training recognised and already want to work as a nursing assistant during the qualification measure or if you already want to work as a bricklayer or as a construction assistant during the qualification measure as a bricklayer.

For regulated professions, a licence to practise a profession must have been issued or granted. The licence to practise a profession includes the authorisation under professional law to practise the profession as well as the granting of the licence to use the professional title.

The residence permit for the implementation of a qualification measure with employment is a temporary residence permit. It is granted for the duration of the qualification measure, up to a maximum of 18 months.
