Teaser	You can have your residence permit extended for the purpose of studying before the expiry of its period of validity if you meet certain conditions for this purpose.
Volltext	The residence permit for the purpose of studying is a temporary residence permit. You can apply for an extension of your residence permit if you have not yet completed your studies but can still obtain it within a reasonable period of time. For the duration of stay, a stay of ten years is usually the upper limit. When deciding on the extension of a residence permit for the purpose of studying, the Foreigners' Registration Office may obtain and take into account opinions from the university or other institutions admitted to education or training in questions of study requirements, the course of study, the degree and other academic matters. The same conditions apply to the extension of the residence permit for the purpose of studying as to the grant. In particular, your livelihood should be secured for the duration of your studies.

Sachverhalt

In the event of an extension, your residence permit will be limited again. The residence permit for the purpose of studying is extended by at least one year and usually by two years or for the remaining duration of the studies.

If the foreigner participates in a Union or multilateral programme with mobility measures (e.g. ERASMUS+ programme of the European Union) or if the foreigner is covered by an agreement between two or more higher education institutions, the residence permit is extended for at least two years. If the course lasts less than two years, it is extended by its duration.

As a rule, the residence permit cannot be extended if this has already been excluded when the residence permit was issued or last extended
