| Teaser | Would you like to divide your building into separate ownership, e.g. into several independent apartments? To do this, you need a certificate of separate ownership, which you must submit to the land registry. |
| Volltext | The certificate of seclusion is one of the prerequisites for dividing your property and the building on it into condominiums or granting someone a permanent right of residence to an apartment in your house and parts of your property. For example, you need a certificate of completion if you: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • want to sell an apartment or several apartments in your apartment building individually • want to transfer an apartment in your house to your child. • want to create a permanent right of residence in favor of your parents, for example. You must submit an application for this. The condominium ownership or permanent right of residence can only be entered in the land register with a certificate of seclusion. With the certificate of separate ownership, the responsible building supervisory authority certifies which rooms of an apartment, separate cellars or garages are eligible for |

| Hinweise | Every co-ownership share and every permanent residential right must be entered in the land register. The basis for this is a registration permit issued by a notary. In order for the notary to be able to notarize this registration approval, he must have a certificate confirming that the apartment(s) is/are separate. For this purpose, he often requires a calculation of the living space of the rooms concerned. It is recommended that you submit this calculation to the building supervisory authority together with the application for seclusion. |
