Teaser	Here you will find information on the process of drawing up a land use plan and the opportunity to comment on a land use plan.
Volltext	The land use plan shows the main features of the urban development uses intended by the planning municipality and differentiated for the individual areas (e.g. residential areas, commercial construction areas, traffic areas, green areas, forest areas, agricultural areas). The land use plan has no direct legal effect on citizens (exception: concentration zones, e.g. for wind turbines), but only binds the municipality itself and other specialist plans. No legal claims can therefore be derived from its graphic and textual representations, in particular the right to be granted planning permission for a specific plot of land or claims for compensation. The representations in the land use plan serve as the basis for development plans, which contain legally binding stipulations for all citizens regarding the use and buildability of land. Stakeholders (authorities and public agencies as well as the public) can comment on the planning during the process of drawing up a land use plan at predefined procedural stages (during publication and, in the
