Teaser	Employers must pay a compensatory levy if they do not employ enough severely disabled people.
Volltext	Private and public employers with an annual average of at least 60 jobs must currently employ severely disabled people in at least 5 percent of their jobs. As long as the employer does not reach the prescribed number, he/she is obliged to pay a compensatory levy. The compensatory levy is calculated on the basis of an annual average employment rate. It is staggered depending on the fulfillment of the employment obligation. Payment of the equalization levy does not cancel the obligation to employ severely disabled people. The funds from the equalization levy are earmarked and are used exclusively to promote the participation of severely disabled people in working life, including accompanying assistance in working life.

Sachverhalt

The compensatory levy to be paid per month and unfilled mandatory position is currently

- 140.00 euros for an annual average employment rate of 3 percent to less than the applicable mandatory rate (currently 5 percent)
- 245.00 euros for an annual average employment rate of 2 percent to less than 3 percent
- 360.00 euros for an annual average employment rate of less than 2 percent
- 720.00 euros for an annual average employment rate of 0 percent (from the notification year 2024).

Special regulations apply to small businesses. No percentage quotas are applied here, but employers with

- 20 to fewer than 40 jobs must employ 1 severely disabled person,
- 40 to less than 60 workplaces must employ 2 severely disabled people.

For small companies with 20 to fewer than 40 workplaces, the graduated amount per unoccupied compulsory workplace is

- EUR 140 if less than 1 severely disabled person is employed.
- EUR 210 if no severely disabled person is employed (from notification year 2024).

For small companies with 40 to fewer than 60 jobs, the graduated amount per unoccupied mandatory job is

- EUR 140 if 1 to less than 2 severely disabled people are employed

Hinweise	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Employers who are obliged to pay the equalization levy can also fulfil their payment obligation in whole or in part by placing orders with recognized workshops for the disabled or workshops for the blind. 50 percent of the amount invoiced for the work performed by the workshop (total invoice amount less material costs) can be offset against the compensatory levy to be paid in each case. This takes into account the work performed by the specialist staff, but not the work performed by other non-disabled employees. • Payment of the compensatory levy does not cancel the obligation to employ severely disabled persons.
