Teaser	If you wish to practise medicine in the field of physiotherapy, you must apply for a license to do so.
Volltext	Authorization to practice medicine, restricted to the field of physiotherapy, may only be granted to persons who are in possession of a license to use the professional title of physiotherapist according to the masseur and physiotherapist law . In order to decide on the granting of a license to practice medicine professionally in the field of physiotherapy, all applications are first examined on the basis of the files. First of all the certificates submitted and any other evidence available of completed courses of study and additional training will be examined to determine whether and to what extent the restricted license to practice physiotherapy can be granted on the basis of the files. This always depends on the possible individual circumstances.
