Sachverhalt

technical college, you will qualify for management positions in companies, businesses, administrations and other institutions. In the field of social work, technical colleges enable their students to work independently and autonomously in the areas of education, training, care and support.

Teaching

As a full-time student at a Fachschule, you will usually graduate after two years of full-time teaching. Many technical college courses are also offered in a three or four-year part-time format for working professionals.

Degrees

- You will receive a state vocational qualification when you pass the technical college examination.
- The acquisition of the Fachhochschulreife is dependent on attending the corresponding additional courses and is also obtained by passing a final examination. If necessary, an additional vocational qualification can also be acquired through additional courses.

Vocational qualifications

- Successful completion of the Fachschule entitles the holder to use the professional title "Staatlich geprüfte/Staatlich geprüfter" (state-certified), stating the subject area, specialization and, if applicable, the focus.
- In the field of social work, the professional title "Staatlich anerkannte/Staatlich anerkannter " is awarded.
- According to the German Qualifications Framework, the vocational school qualification is assigned to level 6.

Opportunities for further education

The Fachhochschulreife entitles the holder to study at Fachhochschulen and corresponding courses at universities.
