Volltext	The following is intended to give you an overview of vocational colleges in North Rhine-Westphalia: The vocational college courses are divided into subject areas, occupational fields, specializations and specialist areas. The lessons in the individual courses are divided into • a vocational learning area, which serves in particular to provide vocational and technical qualifications. • an inter-occupational learning area,, which complements the vocational qualification and contributes to the development of social, cultural, ethical and religious skills. Sport serves to promote health. • a differentiation area, which enables learners to supplement, expand and deepen their individual knowledge, skills and abilities accordingly. The learning areas, their subjects and learning fields are coordinated with each other and contribute to a
