Teaser	If you have a low income, you can obtain a certificate of eligibility for reduced-price single or season tickets for local public transport.
Volltext	The entitlement certificate for a reduced-price local public transport ticket is a voluntary service provided by the local authority for low-income residents. With the entitlement certificate, you can buy discounted single or season tickets for local public transport. You can obtain the tickets with the entitlement certificate and your ID document at the sales points of your public transport association. The reduced-price local transport ticket offer is based on a voluntary decision and is therefore not available in all municipalities. You can obtain the entitlement certificate from your local job center or social welfare office.
