main residence.

The main residence is

- if you are married or in a civil partnership: the home used primarily by both of you. This also applies if you are only living apart temporarily.
- if you are married or in a civil partnership and live apart permanently: Your predominantly used home.
- if you are a minor: the home mainly used by your parents or foster parents. If they live separately, the main residence is the home in which you mainly live.
- Only if the predominantly used home cannot be determined beyond doubt should the focus of the living relationships be taken into account. Indications for this are, for example, the type of home, personal ties, social and local political activities as well as membership in clubs and other organizations.

Secondary residence is

- any other residence in Germany.

Each time you register, you must inform the registration authority whether you have any other residences in Germany and, if so, which of these residences is your main residence. When registering with the registration authority, you must submit written confirmation from the landlord or landlady or a person authorized by him or her (landlord confirmation). Your landlord or landlady or a person authorized by him or her can also confirm your move-in directly to the registration authority electronically. This is not necessary if you are the owner of the apartment yourself.

The confirmation from the landlord or landlady must contain the following data:

1\ name and address of the landlord or landlady and, if he or she is not the owner, also the name of the owner,
