Teaser	If you have completed professional veterinary training but do not have a German license to practice medicine, you can apply for a temporary permit to practice your profession. You can find out more here.
Volltext	A separate professional license is required to use the professional title "veterinarian" in the Federal Republic of Germany and to practice the veterinary profession. If you have completed training as a veterinarian in a non-EU member state and do not meet the requirements for obtaining a license to practice medicine, you can alternatively obtain a conditional license to practice medicine by obtaining a permit to temporarily practice the veterinary profession. The permit may be limited to certain activities and employment positions. It may only be granted or extended on a revocable basis and only up to a maximum total duration of four years of veterinary activity. A further grant or extension of the permit is only possible in a few special cases.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	You will need the following documents to process the application:

Modul

Sachverhalt

- Application for permission to temporarily exercise the veterinary profession
- valid proof of citizenship (copy of identity card, passport)
- a medical certificate, issued no earlier than one month prior to submission, stating that there are no indications that you are unfit in terms of health to practise the profession properly
- a copy of the certificate of competence or training certificate entitling you to take up the veterinary profession, if this is not written in German, additionally an officially certified translation into German
- a certificate of good conduct for submission to an authority of document type O (this must be requested from the residents' registration office responsible for your place of residence)
- If you have been living in Germany for less than two years but in an EU member state, you must apply for a European Certificate of Good Conduct
- Proof of time spent studying (semester overview as proof of at least 5 years of study (transcript of records))
- if you have been registered with the police in the Federal Republic of Germany for less than 2 years, a corresponding extract from the criminal record from your country of origin (if this is not in German, an officially certified translation into German)
- written confirmation from the responsible licensed veterinarian that he/she may be named accordingly in the professional license
- a brief curriculum vitae (focus - professional education)
