Volltext	Entrepreneurs participating in intra-Community trade and services receive a VAT identification number for VAT purposes upon application to the Federal Central Tax Office (BZSt). The VAT identification number is an independent number which the entrepreneur receives in addition to the tax number issued by the competent tax office. It is important for the correct application of VAT regulations in the European internal market. Entrepreneurs need a VAT identification number if they • supply goods to the rest of the Community (intra-Community supply in accordance with § 4 paragraph 1 number 1 letter b) UStG in conjunction with § 6a UStG, § 18a paragraph 6 UStG) or acquire goods from the rest of the Community, • carry out supplies within the meaning of § 25b (2) UStG (intra-Community triangular transactions), • provide other taxable services within the meaning of Section 3a (2) UStG in the rest of the Community for which the recipient of the services is liable for the tax, or use other services provided by a trader established in the rest of the Community. The BZSt also issues a VAT identification number to legal persons who are not entrepreneurs or who do not acquire the goods for their business if they require it for intra-Community acquisitions. In the case of a fiscal unity, a separate VAT identification number is issued for each legal entity on application. The entrepreneur can apply for the VAT identification number in writing or online via the Internet at the BZSt. The application must state the name, address and tax number under which the applicant is registered for VAT purposes. The BZSt will only issue the VAT identification number by post to the address of the entrepreneur.
