Volltext	Protection and assistance for people with a mental illness have become increasingly important. In Saxony-Anhalt, close psychiatric care is being sought. The aids should be available and accessible. Persons with a mental illness should lead an independent and self-determined life in society. People with a mental illness suffer from the following diseases or disorders: • mental or emotional illness, • mental or emotional disorder of significant magnitude, • Addiction If you, too, are affected by a mental illness, you can talk to professionals about treatments.
