Verfahrensablauf	On warning day, mock warnings and mock alarms are triggered by various means. The following procedure is planned: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• At 11:00 a.m., a trial warning will be sent to all agencies participating in the warning system of the Federal Office of Civil Protection and Disaster Assistance (BBK), the so-called warning multipliers. Radio stations and the technology (servers) for warning apps, for example, are connected to the warning system.</li> <li>• The warning multipliers send the sample warning via their systems or programs to those devices on which you read, hear or perceive the warning - for example, radios or the Federal Emergency Information and News App (NINA).</li> <li>• At the same time, available warning means are triggered by the responsible authorities in the federal states, counties and municipalities for trial purposes, such as sirens and loudspeaker trucks.</li> <li>• With each warning, you will usually receive recommendations on what you can do to protect yourself or where you can get more information.</li> <li>• At 11:20 a.m., a rehearsal all-clear signal is again sent to participating agencies.</li> </ul>
