| Teaser | Would you like to know whether there is a suspicion of contaminated sites or harmful soil changes on a property? Then you can apply for information from the register of contaminated sites from the relevant authority. |
| Volltext | Areas suspected of being contaminated are old deposits and old sites where there is a suspicion of harmful soil changes or other hazards for individuals or the general public. Contaminated sites are plots of land belonging to decommissioned facilities and other plots of land on which environmentally hazardous substances have been handled. Old landfills are decommissioned waste disposal facilities and other land on which waste has been treated, stored or deposited. The competent authority maintains a register of contaminated sites in which areas suspected of being contaminated are registered. The landowner or other persons can obtain information about possible contaminated sites. For this purpose, |
