Volltext

If you are looking for information on corporations (such as GmbH, AG, KGaA), partnerships (such as OHG, KG) or sole traders (e. K.), you can consult the commercial register. You will also find small traders in the commercial register who have had the registration made voluntarily.

The register provides information on facts and legal relationships that are of importance for legal transactions in connection with companies registered there. For example, the commercial register contains the names of persons who are authorised to represent a company in business dealings.

Joint register portal of the Länder

Since 01.01.2007, the commercial register has been kept exclusively electronically. Data from the following public registers are available on the joint internet portal of the German register courts

- Commercial register
- Register of Cooperatives
- Partnership register
- Register of associations (in part)

Note: Registers of associations that are not yet kept electronically can be viewed directly at the competent local court. Upon request, you will receive a copy of the register of associations by post.

Searches for individual companies as well as company data and the retrieval of publications in the register portal are free of charge.

Company register

Consultation of the commercial register is also possible via the business register, which was introduced on 01.01.2007. In addition to the data from the commercial register, further information such as annual financial statements and management reports of corporations or company announcements are published in the business register.
