Sachverhalt

The purpose of the association is not to make a profit for itself. Rather, this must be shared and taxed between the members. The activities of the EEIG must be related to the economic activities of its members and may only be ancillary to these activities.

Formation of an EEIG

An EEIG can be formed by companies and other entities under public or private law in accordance with the national law of a member state.

It may be formed by natural persons who have a

Activities in the Community or provide other services there.

An EEIG must consist of at least two members from different member states, but cannot employ more than 500 people.

EEIG formation agreement

The articles of association of an EEIG must contain the name, registered office, object and, where applicable, the name, registration number and place of registration of each member of the association, as well as the duration of the association, unless it is indefinite. This agreement must be entered in the register provided for this purpose by each Member State. Registration confers full legal capacity on the EEIG throughout the Community.

Note: Whenever an EEIG is formed or dissolved, the details must be published in the Official Journal of the European Communities.

After successful registration, you will receive a notification of registration.
