the publicly notarised declarations

- of the man recognising paternity,
- the mother of the child,
- if applicable, the man who was still married to the child's mother at the time of the birth (in the case of divorce-dependent acknowledgement of paternity),
- if applicable, the legal representatives of underage parents (e.g. their parents or guardians).

Note: If the mother is not entitled to parental custody (for example, because the child is already of legal age or she has been deprived of custody of the minor child), the child itself must also give its consent - in the case of children under the age of 14, their legal representatives (e.g. guardian or supplementary carer).

Kosten

- none
- for declaration before the registry office: EUR 30.00
- for declaration before the notary or the local court: expenses (depending on costs)

Verfahrensablauf

You, the mother of the child, her husband if applicable, and the legal representatives if applicable, visit one of the competent authorities together or individually.

- The notary will accept your declarations and notarise them.
- You will receive a copy of the certificate as proof.

The competent office will send certified copies to the registry office at the child's place of birth. If all declarations have been made, the declaration of paternity is valid and the registry office will issue a new birth certificate for the child.

Recognition of paternity before the birth

Recognition of paternity and the necessary consent can be declared before the child is born. The father's name is then entered on the birth certificate from the outset.
