Volltext	#### Proof of aptitude as a trainer in accordance with § 4 of the Trainer Aptitude Ordinance (AEVO)
	With the trainer aptitude test, you prove that you are suitable to carry out the vocational training of trainees.
	Instructor aptitude is indispensable in in-company training and further training and is an important additional qualification in many areas of companies. It is a component of numerous further training qualifications. You demonstrate this aptitude in an examination.
	The examination consists of a written and a practical part:
	 In the written part of the exam, you have to complete case-related tasks from all fields of activity. The written examination usually lasts three hours. One examination set consists of around 70 tasks. This part of the exam usually takes place as a PC exam. In the practical part of the exam, you have to work through a typical training situation in a role play or presentation and then explain your approach in a technical discussion.
	The examination is passed if each part of the examination is graded as at least "sufficient". A failed examination can be repeated twice within an examination procedure. A passed part of the
