this with an authenticated electronic certificate. You will receive the certificate once you have registered with ELSTER. Please note that registration can take up to 2 weeks.

Only in exceptional cases can your competent tax office waive electronic transmission of the income tax return upon request (so-called hardship case regulation). If you are granted an exemption, you must submit the income tax registration on the officially prescribed form.

In order to avoid queries from the tax office, please always enter the number of your employees in the field provided for this purpose in the wage tax registration.

If you discover that an income tax return that has already been submitted is incorrect or incomplete, you must submit a corrected income tax return for the relevant registration period. Entries must also be made in the lines in which no changes have occurred.

The amount of income tax depends in particular on the ELStAM. ELStAM stands for *Elektronische*LohnSteuerAbzugsMerkmale* (electronic wage tax deduction characteristics). These are the individual tax characteristics that you as an employer need to carry out the wage tax deduction for your employees and which are provided to you electronically by the tax authorities for data retrieval.

These ELStAM are

- \- the tax class,
- \- the number of child allowances,
- \- the so-called religious characteristic, which certifies membership of a religious community that levies church tax,
- \- any tax allowances (e.g. for income-related expenses)

- \- the amount of monthly contributions for private health insurance and compulsory private long-term care insurance
- \- and the exemption of wages in accordance with a double taxation agreement.

Sachverhalt

For the withholding of church tax for wage tax, the data on membership of a tax-collecting religious community that can be retrieved in addition to the electronic wage tax deduction features (ELStAM) is decisive.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

Your local tax office will inform you about the documents required in individual cases.

To add a new employee to the system, the following information is generally only required from the employee:

\- Date of birth

\- Tax identification number

\- Type of employment relationship (main employment relationship: tax class 1 to 5 or secondary employment relationship: tax class 6)

Voraussetzungen

You have employees and have registered as an employer with your local tax office.

For ELStAM, employers need an organization certificate from ELSTER and a payroll program that supports ELStAM.

Verfahrensablauf

First, inform your local tax office that you employ people.

For the authenticated transmission of income tax returns to the tax authorities, register with ELSTER and apply for a certificate.

Once you have successfully submitted your income tax return, keep the transmission log. This serves as proof of electronic submission and is intended for your records.

Your employees' ELStAM data is initially generated directly from the registration data stored by the local registration authorities. This applies in particular to the tax class, which depends in particular on whether the

At the employee's request, the tax office can add certain other individual tax bases (e.g. allowances for income-related expenses) or change them (e.g. change of tax class for both working spouses/partners, tax class combinations IV/IV and III/V). The employee will be informed in their payslip about the ELStAM taken into account by you as the employer when deducting income tax. In the event of discrepancies or questions about the stored ELStAM, employees should contact their local tax office. https://www.elster.de https://www.elster.de
