Teaser	The certificate of no impediment to marriage is issued if it is required for marriage abroad.
Volltext	A certificate of no impediment to marriage certifies that there are no legal obstacles to an intended marriage. Whether such a certificate is required depends on the law of the country in which the marriage is to take place. If Germans wish to marry abroad, they must enquire with the competent foreign authority as to whether a certificate of no impediment to marriage is required there. Responsibility for issuing a certificate of no impediment to marriage for German citizens without domicile or habitual residence in Germany, who have never or only temporarily resided in Germany, is the responsibility of Registry Office I in Berlin. Information on both spouses must always be provided in the certificate of no impediment to marriage, so that proof is also required from both fiancées.
