- Needs for accommodation and heating, insofar as they are appropriate
- In exceptional cases, assumption of debts for: Avoidance of homelessness, secure your accommodation or to remedy a comparable emergency situation, for example debts to the energy supplier.
- Needs for your health and long-term care insurance contributions and, under certain conditions, for your pension provision.

In addition to your standard rate, you can receive benefits for additional needs for living expenses. You can receive these additional needs if you:

- meet the requirements for a severely disabled person's pass with the mark "G" and are not able to work under pension law,
- are an expectant mother from the 13th week of pregnancy,
- are a single parent,
- have reached the age of 15, are disabled and receive assistance for appropriate schooling or training as part of integration assistance,
- are dependent on a special diet due to a medical condition, which leads to higher costs than a "normal" diet,
- produce hot water decentrally (e.g. boiler) rather than through a central heating system, or
- you are a pupil and have expenses for the purchase or loan of school books or equivalent workbooks due to the respective school regulations or school requirements.

If you do not live alone, the social welfare office will take into account the entire family income to determine your need for assistance. For this purpose, the income of all family members living together in the same home is taken into account, for example

- earned income,
- maintenance payments and
- pension income.

Apart from a few exceptional cases, you will not receive benefits for past periods.

Kosten

Verfahrensablauf

Assistance with living expenses is paid from the time when the social welfare office becomes aware of the entitlement to benefits. This information is usually provided in the form of an application.

- Arrange a consultation with your local social welfare office. Take all the necessary documents with you to this meeting.
- Complete the application for assistance with living expenses during the consultation.
- The social welfare office will decide on your application and inform you of the result. This is done in the form of a decision, which is usually sent to you by post.
- If your application is approved, you will receive a notice of approval; if it is rejected, you will receive a notice of rejection.
- In both cases, the notification must contain the reasons for the decision as well as information about the possibility of lodging an appeal. It must also state the deadline within which you can lodge an appeal.
- The approval notice must also state the amount of the benefit to be paid and the start date of the payment. From the date stated, the social welfare office will transfer the money to your account at the beginning of the month.
- Please note: You are obliged to inform your social welfare office immediately of any changes to your income and financial circumstances.

Bearbeitungsdauer

Depending on the individual case.

Frist

The deadlines set by the social welfare office for the submission of documents must be adhered to. If you are unable to do so for understandable reasons, you must apply for an extension of the deadline. Otherwise, the social welfare office may refuse to pay you benefits due to non-compliance with your statutory obligations to cooperate. This also applies to the appeal deadlines, i.e. if you do not agree with the decision - not only with the rejection decision, but also with the approval decision (amount of the resulting benefit entitlement).
