Teaser	If you apply sustainable farming practices, you can receive an annual basic income support for sustainability. These direct payments are not linked to payment entitlements and are granted per eligible hectare.
Volltext	As active farmers, you can apply for annual direct payments under the common agricultural policy, which are linked to specific conditions. These payments are intended to promote the economic stability of your farms and meet specific requirements. These include sustainable farming, environmental and climate protection as well as social aspects such as the redistribution of income and support for younger farmers. The exact conditions and scope of the payments are granted per eligible hectare or specific agricultural practice, depending on the focus.
