Verfahrensablauf

Applications must be submitted to the WTSH prior to the start of a project and must be accompanied by verifiable documents that meet the requirements of the funding guidelines. The WTSH has provided the information, forms and digital access to the electronic application process required for the application and further processing on its website (www.wtsh.de).

It is recommended to have a consultation with the WTSH before submitting an application.

An application must be submitted before the start of the project and implementation may not begin without approval.

There is no legal entitlement to funding. Instead, applications are checked for eligibility on the basis of selection criteria. These are described in section 4.1 of the guidelines and are as follows

- The project must demonstrate a sufficiently high degree of innovation,
- Contribution of the project to the following objectives: Number of planned new jobs and economic potential through increased sales after the end of the project,
- Contribution of the project to the objectives of sustainable development, equality, non-discrimination,
- Contribution of the project to climate protection and adaptation to climate change.

The WTSH checks the application and requests any missing documents or information. Once a complete
