Sachverhalt

the federal state, the shooting clubs or the parents or guardians must apply for the exemption. It is recommended that you obtain information about the relevant regulations from the responsible authority. For children under the minimum age, proof must be provided that they are mentally and physically fit. This must always be confirmed by a doctor. For exceptions, it is recommended that you contact the competent authority for information on the relevant regulations. Whether children under the minimum age are suitable for competitive sport in a shooting discipline may not be tested with the corresponding firearms, but must be done in another way.

The exemption from the minimum age can also be requested for an event, for example for a "taster day" to recruit young talent in a shooting club. This exemption is only granted for the event and does not apply to regular training for children and young people.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- Medical certificate (e.g. from the family doctor, specialist in pediatrics and adolescent medicine) confirming the child's physical and mental aptitude for competitive shooting sports
- Confirmation from the club about the child's shooting talent

Voraussetzungen

- Mental and physical aptitude of the child to handle weapons
- Special shooting talent of the child

Kosten

Verfahrensablauf

You must apply for the special permit from the competent firearms authority. Submit the application together with the required documents. The weapons authority will issue the special permit if the requirements are met.
