Teaser	A change of name is a change of surname due to a change in marital status, e.g. declaration of a double name.
Volltext	The change of name (name declaration) describes the process of changing the surname in connection with a change of civil status. Name changes can take place in the following cases, among others: For children • Naming by the mother with the consent of the non-custodial parent, • Names given by the mother and her husband, • New determination of the birth name after establishment of joint custody by the parents, • Declaration following a change of name by the parents or one of the parents, • first determination of a birth name after the birth of the child abroad. For spouses, civil partners, divorced persons, widowed persons • Subsequent determination of a married name, for example after marriage abroad, • Declaration of a double name (prefixing and adding a name to the married name) by a spouse, • Revocation of the addition of a name to the married name, • resumption of the former name after dissolution of the marriage. Whether and in what form a name change (name
