	Participation in road traffic as a perpetrator, damaging party, victim, injured party and so on. An indirect connection with participation in road traffic is sufficient. However, the participation must have a connection to the road traffic incident. This is particularly the case if the motor vehicle is in use. However, participation in road traffic may also be present if the motor vehicle is parked. The use of the motor vehicle does not necessarily have to take place on public roads. It is sufficient if the vehicle is parked in a private car park or garage and the vehicle causes damage there, for example, or suffers damage itself, or the rights of others are infringed by the use of the vehicle, such as ownership or possession of the property.
