Teaser	In order to transport passengers for a fee, a driver's license for passenger transport (FzF) is required.
Volltext	If you are transporting passengers in a motor vehicle and a permit is required for this transport in accordance with the Passenger Transport Act, you will need a passenger transport driving license (FzF) in addition to the general driving license. The same applies if you transport passengers in an ambulance for a fee or for business purposes. A driving license for passenger transport (FzF) is not required for 1. Ambulances of the German Federal Armed Forces, the Federal Police, the police and the troops and civilian personnel of other states party to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), 2. Civil protection ambulances if they are used for this purpose, 3. ambulances of fire departments and rescue services recognized under national law. If you are in possession of a category D or D1 driving license, you only need an FzF if you are driving a cab.
