Volltext	Administrative offenses in road traffic pursuant to Sections 24, 24a and 24c of the Road Traffic Act (StVG) are prosecuted and punished in accordance with the procedural provisions of the Administrative Offenses Act (OWiG) and on the basis of the Federal Ordinance on the Catalogue of Fines (BKatV). The amount of the warning or fine depends on the type and severity of the traffic violation. Warning fine: In the case of minor administrative offenses, the administrative authority may set a warning fine. Fine: Traffic violations may be punished by a fine. When a fine is issued, administrative fees and expenses are also due. Final decisions for an administrative offense under Sections 24, 24a and 24c of the StVG are generally entered in the Driver Fitness Register (FAER) if a driving ban has been ordered against the person concerned under Section 25 of the StVG; two points are entered for an administrative offense that is particularly detrimental to traffic safety and one point is entered for an administrative offense that is detrimental to traffic safety.
