Volltext	If you have extensive practical professional knowledge, you can obtain a residence permit for employment in the field of information and communication technology (IT sector).

Modul

Sachverhalt

To do so, you must have worked in the IT sector for at least three years in the last seven years and thus have acquired a high level of skills and knowledge about your work. In addition, the granting of such a residence permit requires an employment contract or a specific job offer with a certain minimum salary.

You do not need to have completed qualified vocational training or a course of study. It is also not necessary for your qualifications acquired abroad to be recognized. It may be helpful if, in addition to several years of professional experience, you can also demonstrate relevant theoretical knowledge (e.g. through certificates or references).

The Federal Employment Agency must approve the employment before the residence permit is issued. It also checks whether certain requirements can be waived. The Federal Employment Agency grants its approval for a maximum of four years.

The residence permit is issued for a limited period. Its validity depends on your employment contract or the period of validity of the Federal Employment Agency's approval.

Under certain circumstances, the immigration authority may require you to attend an integration course. This will then be noted on your residence permit.

If you are an employer and would like to hire an IT specialist from abroad, you can apply to the immigration authority for the accelerated skilled worker procedure on behalf of the foreigner, which can facilitate and accelerate the entry of skilled workers.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- valid passport
  - Proof of at least three years of professional experience within the last seven years
  - If available, further proof of the theoretical knowledge you have acquired (e.g. certificates)
  - Your language certificate level B1
  - Original of your employment contract or a binding job offer with salary details (please use the standard federal employment declaration form for this)

- Current biometric photo
- current registration certificate
- Proof of your health insurance
- tenancy agreement
- in addition, if you have recently entered Germany:
  - Visa, if this was required for entry
- and in the case of a previous stay:
  - Current residence permit or other certificate of right of residence (e.g. residence permit, toleration)
  - Further documents are required for the employer to carry out the accelerated skilled worker procedure. Please contact the relevant immigration authority for this.

Voraussetzungen

- You have a recognized and valid passport or passport substitute and - if required for entry - an appropriate visa.
  - There is no interest in deporting you.
  - Your stay does not jeopardize or impair the interests of the Federal Republic of Germany.
  - You have worked in the IT sector for at least three years within the last seven years.
  - You have an employment contract or a binding job offer in the field of information and communication technology.
    - Your salary will reach at least 60% of the contribution assessment ceiling for pension insurance. In 2020, 60% corresponds to a minimum gross salary of EUR 4,140 per month or EUR 49,680 per year (limit applies to the whole of Germany). The amount of the contribution assessment ceiling for each year is published by the Federal Ministry of the Interior, Building and Community in the Federal Gazette by December 31 of the previous year (see further information).
  - You can cover your living expenses and health insurance independently without claiming public benefits.
  - You have sufficient knowledge of German. This corresponds to language level B1. In individual cases, the requirement for German language skills may be waived. If this requirement is to be waived in your case, you must apply for this and give reasons.
  - The Federal Employment Agency has agreed to your
