Teaser	If you intend to transport goods commercially or for a fee using motor vehicles weighing more than 3.5 tons, you need a permit from the local licensing authority (place of business).
Volltext	The commercial performance of transport services with vehicles with a permissible total weight of more than 3.5 tons requires a license. A distinction must be made between a commercial road haulage license

Modul

Sachverhalt

(valid only within Germany) and a Community license (valid within the European Union). The main granting factors are:

- professional suitability

Specialist examination before the Chamber of Industry and Commerce (IHK) or training as a transport specialist or forwarding merchant (training started before 04.12.2011)

- Financial capacity

equity capital of EUR 9,000 for the first vehicle, EUR 5,000 for each additional vehicle)

- personal reliability

A certificate of good conduct and information from the central commercial register must be applied for at the citizens' registration office and sent directly to the licensing authority. If entrepreneurs are already self-employed, certificates of good standing from the tax office, the employees' health insurance companies and the employers' liability insurance association must also be submitted. The documents for personal reliability must not be older than 3 months at the time of application).

The application must be submitted to the locally responsible licensing authority (company headquarters).

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- Police certificate of good conduct (will be sent to the responsible authority after application to the citizens' registration office)
- Extracts from the commercial and central traffic registers
- Proof of professional and technical qualification from the IHK (Chamber of Industry and Commerce)
- Clearance certificates from the tax office and the social insurance institutions
- Equity certificate / statement of assets and liabilities
