Kurztext

If you or a close relative were born abroad, you can apply for a subsequent certification of the birth in the register of births (formerly the register of births) at the registry office in Germany.

There is no obligation for subsequent certification - properly issued birth certificates from abroad are generally recognized in Germany.

However, a subsequent entry in the register of births can be advantageous because the local registry office can then issue you with a German birth certificate. Any translations and certifications of the foreign certificate will therefore no longer be necessary.
