Teaser	If you have newly appointed or dismissed an immission control officer or if there have been changes in their area of responsibility, you must report this to the responsible immission control authority.
Volltext	Under the Federal Immission Control Act, operators of certain installations requiring a permit must appoint one or more immission control officers (immission control officers) if this is necessary in view of the type or size of the installations due to the • emissions emanating from the installations, • technical problems in limiting emissions or • suitability of the products to cause harmful effects on the environment through air pollution, noise or vibrations when used as intended, is required. Annex I of the Ordinance on Immission Control and

Modul	Sachverhalt
	Major Accidents Officers specifies the installations subject to licensing for which the operator must appoint an immission control officer. The operator must immediately notify the competent authority of the appointment of the immission control officer and the designation of his/her duties as well as changes in his/her area of responsibility and his/her dismissal. The competent authority may also order that operators of installations that do not require a permit must also appoint one or more immission control officers if the need arises in individual cases.
