Teaser	You can apply to extend your training period in the event of problems during training, long-term illness, caring for relatives, failing an examination or part-time training.
Volltext	There are three main reasons why you can extend your training period:

Modul

Sachverhalt

1. Extension in exceptional cases

There can be many personal or educational reasons for extending a training program. In order to extend the training relationship, there must be important reasons that justify this. These can be, for example, longer illnesses, significant deficiencies in the training, maternity protection periods or parental leave.

1. Failed final examination

If trainees do not pass the final examination, the training contract will be extended at their request until the next possible repeat examination, for a maximum of one year.

1. Part-time vocational training

The regular training period is also extended in the case of part-time vocational training. The agreement on part-time training is the subject of the contract and can be stipulated in the vocational training contract at the beginning of the training. However, it can also be agreed for a limited period of training. The following principle applies:

- The reduction in daily or weekly training time may not exceed 50 percent of full-time training.
- The duration of the training period is extended accordingly in proportion, up to a maximum of 1.5 times the regular training period.

Due to the required extension of the training period in part-time training, the end of the new contractual training period may not coincide perfectly with the central examination dates. At the trainee's request, an
