Kurztext	Home slaughtering is slaughtering carried out privately, outside of commercial slaughterhouses, with the aim of producing meat for human consumption in the home. Even in the case of home slaughter, it is essential to carry out an official ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection of the animals to be slaughtered in order to avoid a risk to humans and animals. This applies to even-toed ungulates, cattle, pigs, goats, sheep; solipeds such as horses, rabbits and wild game, provided their meat is intended for human consumption.
