Teaser	You can obtain information from the debtor register for certain purposes and under certain conditions.
Volltext	The debtor register serves to protect honest business transactions from uncreditworthy debtors. Since 01.01.2013, the management of the debtor register has been completely reorganized and modernized. Since then, there has only been one debtor register in each federal state, which has been set up at a central enforcement court. In Thuringia, this is at the Meiningen district court. Inspection is only possible nationwide via the Internet. Anyone can obtain information from the debtor register if they can demonstrate that the personal information is to be used for one of the purposes specified in the Code of Civil Procedure (see under Requirements). Chambers (e.g. chambers of industry and commerce or chambers of crafts) or commercial and credit agencies

Informationen
Hinweise	If someone does not have the option of using the internet, an inspection PC is available at all local courts. Since registration with the aforementioned internet platform is also required in this case, it is usually necessary to visit the local court twice in person. Obtaining information via the internet portal is therefore considerably less time-consuming.
