qualification confirming that you have worked permanently and legally as a specialist dentist in the requested specialty for at least 3 years during the 5 years preceding the issue of the certificate.

If you hold a specialist dental title that does not correspond to a title listed in Annex V, point 5.3.3 of Directive 2005/36/EC, it may be recognized. The prerequisite is the submission of a certificate from the competent body of the EU/EEA/or contracting state in which the further training was obtained. The certificate must confirm that your certificate of continuing education is equivalent to the certificate of continuing education whose designation is listed in Annex V, point 5.3.3 of Directive 2005/36/EC (so-called certificate of conformity).

If you have a specialist dental qualification that is not covered by the automatic recognition, you will receive recognition of your specialist dental qualification upon application if the equivalence of the level of further training is given. The equivalence of the level of further training is not given if there are substantial differences between your proven specialist dental qualification and the German further training and these cannot be compensated by corresponding professional practice. Substantial differences are present

- if the duration of your proven specialist dental qualification is at least one year less than the duration of further training specified by the chamber in its further training regulations, or
- if the specialist dentist qualification you have demonstrated lacks essential knowledge, experience and skills, the acquisition of which is a prerequisite for the specialist dentist designation applied for.

If significant deficiencies are identified that cannot be compensated for by your professional practice or by knowledge, skills and competencies acquired through lifelong learning and formally recognized as valid for this purpose, you may take a so-called aptitude test to compensate for the deficiencies. The State Dental Association will inform you of the deficits identified in its decision. It will also inform you of the reasons why the deficits could not be compensated by your professional practice or by knowledge, skills and competences acquired through lifelong learning. The State Dental Association will make you an offer to take an aptitude test. The date for the aptitude test will be chosen so that you have the opportunity to take it no later than 6 months after the decision of the State Dental Association to impose an aptitude test on you. The duration of the examination is at least 30 minutes. If you pass the examination, you will receive recognition of the designation provided for under the valid continuing education regulations.

If you have acquired your specialist dental qualification in a third country and this has already been recognized in another EU/EEA/contracting state and the other EU/EEA/contracting state certifies that you have 3 years of professional practice in the requested specialist field in the territory of the issuing EU/EEA/contracting state, you will receive recognition of the designation provided for under the valid continuing education regulations upon application.

Procedure for specialist dental qualifications from non-EU/EEA/contracting state (third state)

If you have acquired your specialist dental qualifications in a third country, your qualification will be reviewed individually. The responsible dental association will check the equivalence of your foreign specialist dentist qualification with the German specialist dentist qualification.

If your specialist dentist qualification is equivalent to the German specialist dentist qualification, you will receive recognition of the specialist dentist designation.

If substantial differences are found that cannot be compensated for by professional practice or by knowledge, skills and competencies acquired through working as a specialist dentist is only possible if you already have a valid professional permit/approbation in Germany. This means that you must first have your qualification as a dentist recognized and have received your professional permit/approval. After that, you can apply for recognition of your specialist dentist qualification.

Special regulations apply to specialist dentist qualifications from the former Soviet Union and the former Yugoslavia. For more detailed information, please contact the relevant state dental association.

You must provide proof of your German language skills when you are granted your professional license/approval. Your German language skills will not be tested again for the recognition as a specialist dentist.

The offices for recognition and qualification consulting of the network "Integration through Qualification" (IQ network) will gladly advise and accompany you before, during and after the recognition procedure.
