limited or non-existent, as there are usually only a few approved products for this purpose. However, the problem of "control gaps" can also exist with certain harmful organisms that cause damage worthy of control only sporadically and in certain areas and were therefore not taken into account in regular approvals.

In these situations, an operational case-by-case approval can be requested for the use of an approved plant protection product in an additional application area. The validity of a permit is always limited to the applying farm and the area applied for. It may be subject to additional conditions.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- truthfully and completely filled in application form.
- In the case of a residue-relevant application, additionally available documents, if applicable, which document findings on the residue situation after application of the plant protection product applied for

Voraussetzungen

- Approvability exists for crops that are grown only on a minor scale, or
- against harmful organisms that cause significant damage only in certain areas.
- Approvals can only be granted for approved plant protection products
- Medium application rates and number of applications may not be higher than for an approved area of application
- plant protection products may only be approved for the area of application that corresponds to the authorization (e.g. outdoor, greenhouse)
- foodstuffs obtained from these plants or plant products may only contribute to the daily diet to a minor extent
- for plants and their products used for nutrition: no exceeding of the expected legally defined maximum residue levels of the active substance when used as intended and in the appropriate manner
- Companies in agriculture, horticulture or forestry that use plant protection products for commercial purposes or in the context of other economic undertakings are eligible to apply. In addition, legal entities (e.g. growers' associations) may submit collective applications on behalf of their members.

Modul

Sachverhalt

- The validity of a permit is always limited to the applying farm and the area applied for, and may be subject to additional conditions.
- a permit for seed treatment may only be granted if the treated seed is used exclusively on the own farm.

Supplement for Thuringia:

Permits are issued for a maximum of three years. After expiry, an extension can be applied for if the need continues to exist. The processing of applications for Section 22 permits is subject to a fee.

Kosten

For Thuringia:

- Approval single application 25 Euro
- Approval collective application 25 Euro + 10 Euro per additional company
- Extension of a permit 15 Euro
- Extension of collective application 15 Euro + 5 Euro per additional company

Verfahrensablauf

It is recommended to obtain prior advice on the approvability of the intended application and possible alternatives. The application must be submitted using the relevant form to the responsible official body of the federal state in which the relevant areas of cultivation are located. The data recorded in the application are of fundamental importance in the approval procedure and must therefore be correct and complete. The office checks the completeness, the factual correctness of the application data and the existence of the requirements for a permit. If there are any queries or additional requirements, you will be contacted. A permit is issued by means of a notice subject to a fee. It is only valid for the applying company and for the areas applied for.

Supplement for Thuringia:

The permit is limited to a maximum of 3 years and may contain further conditions.

Bearbeitungsdauer

Thuringia: Processing time individual, as decisions are made on a case-by-case basis; usually 2 to 8 weeks

Modul	Sachverhalt
Frist	Thuringia: Since processing times of several weeks may arise depending on the indication applied for, the application should be submitted in good time before the planned use of plant protection products. In addition, prior consultation on the approvability of the intended application and possible alternatives is recommended.
