professional qualification is still ongoing. The recognition procedure covers the period from the application to the issuing of a final recognition decision by the competent recognition body. This includes the implementation of qualification measures and subsequent examinations that are required to determine equivalence or to obtain a license to practice the profession.

If your residence permit is extended, it will be limited in time again. The residence permit for recognition of professional qualifications on the basis of an agreement between the Federal Employment Agency and the employment services in your country of origin will be extended by one year at a time up to a maximum of three years. After three years, if you have successfully completed the recognition procedure, you can obtain a residence permit to look for a job for one year or a residence permit for another purpose of residence (e.g. to study, to complete vocational training or to work as a skilled worker).

The Federal Employment Agency must again approve the pursuit of employment in the desired occupational field. Approval is granted for a limited period of one year. This can be granted if you can prove that you will continue to pursue the recognition procedure.

As a rule, the residence permit cannot be extended if this was already ruled out when the residence permit was issued or last extended.
