Teaser	Have you divorced and then changed your surname? Then you must apply for a new identity card if you do not have a valid passport document with the new name.
Volltext	Your ID card is invalid after a name change. If you have had your surname changed, for example after a divorce or the dissolution of a civil partnership, you must apply for a new ID card. There is one exception: as long as you have a valid passport document, i.e. passport or temporary passport, with the new name, you do not need to apply for a new ID card. The period of validity depends on your age at the time of application: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • under 24 years: ID card is valid for 6 years. • from the age of 24: ID card is valid for 10 years. You can apply for a temporary ID card at the same time. This is possible if you need an identity document for the period until the new ID card is issued. The temporary ID card is valid for a maximum of three months. You must return it as soon as you have received your new ID card.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • old identity card or passport (with the old name) and, if available, valid passport (with the new name) • Divorce certificate

- Certificate of the name from the registry office
- Biometric passport photo: From May 1, 2025, only digitally available biometric photos will be used for new official documents. The photographs will either be taken at the authorities or by photographers. This means that citizens will no longer be able to bring their own photographs with them.

Voraussetzungen

The obligation to apply for an identity card applies to you if you

- have German citizenship,
- have reached the age of 16,
- are registered in Germany and
- do not have a valid passport or temporary passport with the new name.

For applications outside your main place of residence:

- You must be able to provide an important reason why you are not applying for the ID card at the Citizens' Registration Office at your main place of residence.
